Sharp, ferocious punk marked by abrupt shifts in rhythm, tempo and dynamics. with a viciously abrasive and discordant tech-metal, a sonic clusterf#lk marked by incongruous shifts in tempo and timbre and a startling dynamism that balances brutality, playfulness and eerie beauty. It's weird, wild and wonderful. - freetimes

Columbia, South Carolina's Burnt Books formed in October of 2011 from a variety of local bands. Matt Thompson and Troy Thames came from both the "smashist revolutionaries" Guyana Punch Line and experimental punkers Thank God. Troy also participated in .fuckingcom (ex. Antischism / Initial State). Joey Parker and Chuck Sligh helped provide the heavy riffage and crazy time signatures of Tunguska. Finally Zoe Lollis had been doing solo shows with just her banjo.

Their s/t full length was recorded with Phillip Cope (Kylesa, Baroness, Dark Castle) at the Jam Room. On their first full length Burnt Books plays noisy hardcore / punk with Lollis' growls, wails, and mocking tones. Additional elements of post punk inspired angular riffs, noise rock and even a little southern rock, interludes of just Zoe's clean vocals and banjo expand the sound.
